

IN THE NORTH ALMOST HALF OF A CENTURY

William Wylie, Second Oldest White Resident of the Athabasca District, Passed Away at Fort Chipewyan in Employment of the Hudson's Bay Company.

In the sudden death of William Wylie, on New Year's afternoon, at his home on 23rd Street, Strathcona, there passes from the scene of northern activities a man who spent his life in the north, physically isolated from civilization in the great wilds of the Athabasca district. Wylie had been in the north, it had been for all those years, in the employ of the Hudson's Bay company. At the present time there is only one white man, Timothy Gaudette, of Fort Good Hope, who has been in the north so long as he has. So fond did he become of the isolated life that he rarely left the post, though he had been taking a course in normal work at the provincial Normal School in Winnipeg but could not live there. When he returned to Edmonton with the intention of settling here he was offered a place at Fort Chipewyan in the spring if death had not terminated his career.

The oldtimer was born in Orkney, Scotland, and left his home in July, 1875, at the age of 18 years. He came by way of the Hudson's Bay's straits and York factory, first to North West River, where he sojourned, and then Fort Chipewyan, where he had been in the north for four years.

He had been in the employ of the Hudson's Bay Company as a carpenter and his mate. Until his removal to Edmonton, Mr. Wylie had been here for forty-six years without going beyond the boundaries of the Athabasca district.

Mr. Wylie, a born sailor, from the world left him about ignorant of the great inventions of science, and the world he had wrought in the commercial world. When he came to the north the only means of transportation he had was the snowshoe.

He had no knowledge of what was the ox or mule, and no means of communication the mail bag. Until he reached Edmonton again last September he had never seen a telephone, had never ridden in a streetcar, and a trolley car, didn't know what an automobile was.

When he left his home in Scotland, he shipped his household effects from Glasgow, and consequently in the ship which took him across the Atlantic he had the experience of traveling in a vessel which did not then in existence. Consequently Mr. Wylie lived a lonely life in the last three months before his return to the south.

In 1882 Mr. Wylie helped to build the Hudson's Bay steamer Grampus, then the largest vessel on the northern rivers and the one still in use between Fort McMurray and Fort Smith on the Athabasca.

The Family Surviving. — Nine years ago Mr. Wylie married Miss Flora McLean, a daughter of the Hudson Bay clerks at Chipewyan. The family consists of four sons, William and Peter at Fort Vermilion, and Edward at Fort Chipewyan, who is now married for the moment, and two daughters, Mary Ann, wife of Jim Fraser, the canoe trader, and Jessie, wife of MacKenzie, the fur trader.

Mr. Wylie's passing comes suddenly without warning to his wife and three sons, who were at home at the time. He was seized with an attack of neuralgia of the heart, noon on Dec. 31, and died before he could be summoned to the severance of the flesh.

He and his wife had just prepared the meal for breakfast. Mrs. Wylie had announced that he had not slept well, and expressed pleasure in anticipating a visit to several of his old friends in the south. She had been ill, however, he was seized with severe shooting pains in the vicinity of the heart, and was unable to get up. He lay down, and after dinner, his wife went in to speak to him and found him dead. He was buried at Fort Chipewyan on Sunday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Son of St. Paul's Anglican church, officiating.

A Man of Honor.

Dr. Mackay, the well known surgeon, of Jasper, has been living in Edmonton, has been acquainted with Mr. Wylie since he first visited the city, and is a representative of the Hudson's Bay Company. Dr. Mackay viewed his associations with the deceased with regret, saying, "I never knew a finer man."

Dr. Mackay, "nor one with a keener sense of honor. I last saw him in 1888, when I first went to Chipewyan, and after that for ten years, when we often met, and assisted my in my work. He was one of the most useful men in the employ of the Hudson's Bay Company."

His death will be felt by every one who knew him well.

Hindu Leader Stays. — Traffic Vancouver, Jan. 3.—Prof. Tej Bahuguna, leader of the Hindu community in this city, has been invited to come to answer the charge of obstructing the street traffic. He was here last summer, and again went up town corner and decided to stay when requested to do so by policemen.

Church School for Raymond. — Vancouver, Jan. 3.—It has been learned good authority that Raymond is to have the Mormon church school, This will be located in the Victoria Lake. The school will mean a great deal for Raymond, and as Raymond is the only Mormon settlement in Southern Alberta, it will be well situated.

To Contest Lethbridge. — Lethbridge, Jan. 3.—A convention of Labradorians, Jan. 3—Prof. Tej Bahuguna, leader of the Hindu community in this city, has been invited to come to answer the charge of obstructing the street traffic.

He then stepped to the front and addressed the audience to file out in orderly procession to the theatre. He said that there was a fire in an adjoining building and the show would therefore be cut.

His forcible presence of mind probably averted a repetition of Chicago's tragedy. The audience, however, was so enraged over the conduct of the manager that they closed the door to the theatre, and the manager was compelled to leave without his audience.

STRATHCONA NEWS

SCHOOLS OPENED TO-DAY.

The city schools reopened this morning after the Christmas holidays. The University was opened in the new College Building, Institute and Avenue north, where the classes will be held until the year is out, until the permanent university buildings are erected in the west end of the city. The university classes will be held in the senior hall, while the assembly hall, while on the ground floor, will be used for the permanent hall.

This will leave the Grandin street school entirely for the use of the entire use of Dungan street school for the regular school work. In Grandin street school, Mr. Luck was formerly appointed to the staff, will assume the principalship, while R. E. Price, formerly teacher at Dungan street school, Mr. Luck was formerly a teacher at Alberta College, will be teacher at the new school, having taken a course in normal work at the provincial Normal School in Jasper.

During the past term part of the classes of the Dungan street school were taught in the new building, the rest being owing to part of the school building being used for the new school.

"PROTECTION."

Slowly, perhaps, but more the less surely, the extension of public conviction in Canada is swinging its influence and farther away from the idea of a tame and quiet existence in the States. Its resultants in the last result is that what protection very frequently amounts to. Its announced purpose is to encourage the establishment of factories which could not live in the country under native conditions and opportunities, which the interested parties declare could not live under such conditions. But factories cannot work on nothing. They must have raw material, and in large part that raw material is coal and iron and steel and metals which no chemist can replace. If then protection breeds—and its advocates say it does—manufactories so strong that they can not only supply the home demand but also export, it must be to the detriment of the earth, the process amounts to the same as nothing more nor less than "dumping" out of the country what we have no means of replacing and what some day the power of the country will need. The lesson of history and observation and experience the Canadian public have learned that "protection" in this direction is only a sneaking name for the speculation of both themselves and their country. To them it means little pines and to their country the depletion of its unequalled resources.

Will it be strange if one of these days there does not arise a demand, general, loud and insistent, that the methods of private economy be applied to the protection of the Canadian Pacific railway in relation to the wealth stored up in the soil? The patron of a bank is admiringly right in instructing his banker to pay money from his account to no one but himself, and the Canadian government, if given power, will do the same. The open market would produce the 50 million dollars, presumably desired by the company, and that the scheme proposed was merely a pretext for handing the shareholders the 50 million dollars worth of stock it was pointed out that C. P. R. will be required to put in hand to meet the cost of carrying other paper also took up the matter and dealt with it in similar fashion.

"Now a 'Banker' writes to the Weekly Sun in defense of the company's policy, and with the bad logic that has been customarily reputated to give countenance to similar demands in bygone days. The alias does not obscure the authorship, however, and the horrors very ingeniously belied to the public by the gentleman who for upwards of two decades has been employed in the continuous and very necessary occupation of giving the countless shadymen of the company a less than honest time of it. He has taken his toll, however, of their deceptive powers, the present effort is not without truth, though hardly of the expected kind, for it draws from the Sun the following trenchant editorial remarks:

"We understand, one moment ago, that the contention of the company is that the action of the community should be resisted, and the next moment that the action of the company is to be resisted. This is not only a 'protecting' him, but it is not protecting the public whom he makes his money. It may be patriotic to India or to China or to some other country, but it is not patriotic to any man, to any nation, to Canada, and as Canada pays the patriotic sentiment it is to Canada the sentiment should be devoted. If man or a company want control of the house, then let them buy it, and if they do not, then let them be made to pay only the house market, or at least to agreeing to not supply other people at a lower price than the people at home are charged, plus the carriage, plus the insurance, plus the clause against foreign manufacturers who under-charge us in order to get them into Canada at less than the proper duty charges and thus undersell the home product. What seems to be needed is a sharper damping down of the whole, while the Canadian man, dumper damping his goods in some other country lost their presence in Canada should force him to reduce the price of his products to the people who keep his factory going."

A CASE FOR ATTENTION.

A convicted prokletnik was let off with a fine in the police court here yesterday. The man admitted that he was a "stodogom" in a Jasper avenue resort, his business being to entrap the unwary by playing low-and-winning—watches and other valuable possessions. The power of the law was appealed to others not knowing "the ropes" to get him to play the game, to enrichmen of their experience and the financial benefit of the proprietors. The "booster" lost his fine and his pocketbook was recovered by the police. The man, it is presumed, had been paid off by the gamblers, his compensation consisting of a salary. He was convicted of a robbery. To get the police officer to take $50 from the pocket of an on baker one day last week and fined $25 and costs.

With our desire to mitigate, the conduct of the proceedings of the court is to be deplored, nothing seems to be done that has any earthly repressing this species of robbery. That the amount of the sum exceeded the amount stolen gives it no substantial importance as a consideration, but the fact that the same may have stolen ten times that in smaller sums from other pockets. It is to be afraid of the game and the fine represents only an incidental expense in connection with the operation of the business.

It is to be hoped that the fine will be paid to him.

He is ahead of the game and the fine represents only an incidental expense in connection with the operation of the business.

It is to be hoped that the fine will be paid to him.

At the same time's little attention to the condition of things brought out at the trial might provide work not only for the police but for the attorney general's department. Briefly it was established that the concern for which the man was working was neither more nor less than a manufacturing firm, the business of which involved the destruction of the crops by uniformly timed blasting.

Whether this is the case or not, the existing law is a question for the lawyers. It is to be hoped that the machinery of the law shall operate fairly and effectively in the protection of it and of all others of a kidney.

SPORTING NEWS*HOCKEY.*EDMONTON DEFEATS OTTAWA.

Ottawa, Jan. 3.—The Ottawa hockey team clashed with the Edmonton team at the Auditorium in the Capital here on Saturday in an exhibition match, and the visitors won by a score of 4 to 2. It was the first time the Ottawa team has been here since the Stanley Cup competition, and it was a good reception. The team lined up exactly the same as in the Stanley Cup competition. The Wanders for the Stanley cup showed that they are one step above the Ottawa team.

Opposed to them in the Sunday line-up were seven players who had been on the Stanley cup team, different from the Ottawa. Head of the Wanders is a man named Lester Phillips, who has had an initial appearance as a team captain. They expect to win the first league game, and the first team to play in the Stanley cup.

With Lester and Vail were the two of the Edmonton forward line. Patrick was the most effective on the team. Patrick was a great player, and with Gordon Lindsay off, he left the flag which was defensive and went down the ice to assist.

The western team has the Senators as regards speed and skill, and with Gordon Lindsay off, he left the flag which was defensive and went down the ice to assist.

Lester and Vail and of the Edmonton team, left for Ottawa to join the team of the town in the first league game, and contracts with the western team.

COMMENT ON CUP GAMING.

The Western team have some interesting comments to make over the result of the first hockey match between the Senators and the Edmonton team. The Senators had a good start, but after a few minutes looked to the freshets of the Wanders. The Wanders, however, did not let the Senators get three shots to every one, and the result was a tie.

Note on the Game.

The Wanders have a stranglehold, but the Senators have been beaten as a result of their poor play.

OLD COUNTRY FOOTBALL.

London, Eng., Jan. 3—(C.A.P.)—The following are the results of the football games played on Saturday in Old Country on Saturday.

"They had as good as won the game, even though they were beaten in the second half," Edmonton scored seven times.

"Wanderers occasionally made bright plays, but in the second half twice they noted the rubber ball, and the final score 7 to 2 in favor of Old Country on Saturday."

"The upshot of it all was that the game sounded for half time, and the Wanderers had a good many players, while Wanderers were their dressing room with the men who are just beginning to themselves."

night and a respectable amount of practice together, the team might hope like an outfit of world-beaters, but the record of the team does not look so good. There seems more than a possibility that the team will be put up as the smallest possible portion that will be educational.

The Edmonton Team.

Only a few men of the Edmonton team were strangers to the Montreal hockey public. Vail, Whitford and Phillips are old acquaintances, and the names of the remaining four, Tom Phillips, Lester, Patrick, Pitt, and McRae, are household words among the hockey fans.

Vail and Whitford were good in the game, and the others were good in the Shambles.

In a kind of a game that signalled the end of the season, the hockey sense—or in the field—in the game appears to have run out weight against the Wanders, who had a good deal of steam left.

Tom Phillips showed glimpses of his old self, but the others were not quite as well have been off the ice as in fact a good deal better than the Wanders.

But Dickey hasn't forgotten how to play, and he's a good player. He was the best on the field, and the Wanders, who had a good deal of steam left, were not able to catch him.

Tall Slender Men Who— are naturally long in the leg will find it much better to have their trousers finished with permanent turn ups at the bottoms.

This has a tendency to shorten the appearance of the lower extremities and in consequence is much more becoming. You have only to mention this when you order clothes from a Fashion-Craft shop.

We cut Slacks especially for tall men, slender or stout, these have special proportions particularly becoming to such figures.
